The women of Wilmer Hall began their fall activities with a series of exchanges with men's living groups, firesides and serenades. Around Christmas time, they were at their busiest. Pixie Week started things off well, with pixies scurrying here and there performing favors for their masters. It was followed by the Christmas Dinner Party and a Christmas raunch dance. White Breakfast was another Christmas event, where the hall choir, dressed in white, carried candles through the dorm before daylight singing carols and inviting everyone downstairs to sing, have skits, and eat a special breakfast. In the spring, they had their formal dinner-dance, "Shangri-la." This event was followed by a raunch street dance, given by Wilmer, Duncan Dunn, Community, and Davis. Also in the spring they held their Scholarship Dinner and took their seniors on a ride.
