FOOTBALL SATURDAY

W. S. C. and Whitman Lock Horns
 on Rogers Field November 24

Next Saturday, Nov. 24, the State College football team meets the Whitman aggregation on Rogers Field, in what promises to be a close, interesting game. Whitman has two collegiate victories and one tie game to her credit. In the early part of the season the Missionaries took in tow Williamette University by a score of 9 to 0. In the next big game, with the Multnomah athletic club, they were defeated 9 to 0. The mix up with the state university, at Seattle, resulted in a tie game, score, 0 to 0. To cap the good work done, Whitman won from the University of Idaho, 6 to 5, last Saturday.

Reports from WallaWalla indicate a rather shaky confidence in the Whitman team in the approaching game. The W.S.C. is not overconfident in the ability of her pigskin warriors, but the way football dope is being given out we have the best so far, on paper. Five games have been played, two collegiate, two with the S.A.A.C., and one with Blair. No team has scored against us this year. However, no one can play the game on paper—Saturday, when the two teams come together, we will know how it happened.

A final contract has been drawn up with the O. A. C. which calls for a debate each year. The first debate will be held at Pullman this year.

Eight to zero in favor of the W.S.C., that was the score at the end of the game with the S.A.A.C. last Saturday, but how many of the rooters thought it was large enough? Not many if side line remarks and comments heard after the game are worth any consideration. The Club put up a weaker game than was expected, while the varsity showed a decline since the Idaho game. That the team did not play as hard as if a college game had been on was plainly evident. Fumbles by both sides were frequent, the teams about even up on that score.

From the kick-off until the end of the game Referee Kennedy was busy penalizing for off side playing, peculiar kicks and passes, that Spalding forgot to make provision for when he published his official football encyclopedia. Kennedy and Gene Person sweat Palouse moisture freely keeping trace of, and passing judgment upon, the football novelties introduced by the Club team. Towards the end of the first half a big pow wow was held over alleged infringement of Marquis of Queensbury rules as applied to gridiron tactics. The case was settled to the satisfaction of all, however, and the game went merrily on. The kick-off by Halm sent the ball to the Club's 10 yard line, and during the succeeding ten minutes of the play was practically all on S. A.A.C. territory. The varsity went into the line for strong, consistent gains. Glenn, however, would break through like a whirlwind. A number of times he threw the man with the ball back for a loss. Eleven minutes play brought the scrimmage down to Spokane's 25 yard line. A place kick, with Jerry holding the ball, sent the pigskin between the posts, making four easy points.

Spokane dropped the ball down the field to our 35 yard line, and for the remainder of the half the spectators had frequent opportunities for hearty laughs at the expense of the players, both Spokane and W.S.C. Two big babes, in the persons of Doc Callahan and Thayer, bucked each other on the line. Thayer was in better form than Callahan and had no trouble in handling him. Fortunately for some of the light men in the back field Callahan never had a chance to fall on them, his 270 pounds would have driven them deep into the mud.

Though amusing incidents relieved the spectators and caused them to forget the chilly north-
