
Acknowledgments

I am indebted to the current and retired faculty members of Cooperative Extension for their sharing of materials and personal experiences during their tenure with the organization; to the staff of the Manuscripts, Archives, and Special Collections Section of Holland Library, WSU, for their willingness to transport archive materials to the WSU center in Spokane; to the staff members of the WSU Center in Spokane for their willingness to grant me space for work and for additional courtesies; to Sherrill Carlson, Cooperative Extension, WSU, for valuable counsel during the preparation of the rough draft and for subsequent editorial work on the manuscript. I'm especially grateful to my wife, Byrdene, for her forbearance during a period when I should have been retired and for support throughout the project and for help in typing the rough draft.

FELIX ENTENMANN